The 1969 Wilsonian is dedicated to our parents and to our ideals. Although we do not tell our parents often enough how much we value the help they give us, we do appreciate it. Our parents have been a constant source of encouragement. They have always been willing to offer us assistance, whether it is decorating for the Cap and Gown Party or mending clothes. Our parents have always been willing to help. It is because of all these things that we wish to honor them by dedicating this yearbook to them.

HIGHER EXPECTATIONS MEAN UP, UP AND AWAY

We acknowledge the many wonderful things our parents have given us, but we would also like to dedicate our yearbook to our ideals. This co-dedication can be thought of as one, for our parents have inspired us to believe in such qualities as truth, justice, freedom, love, honor, and peace.

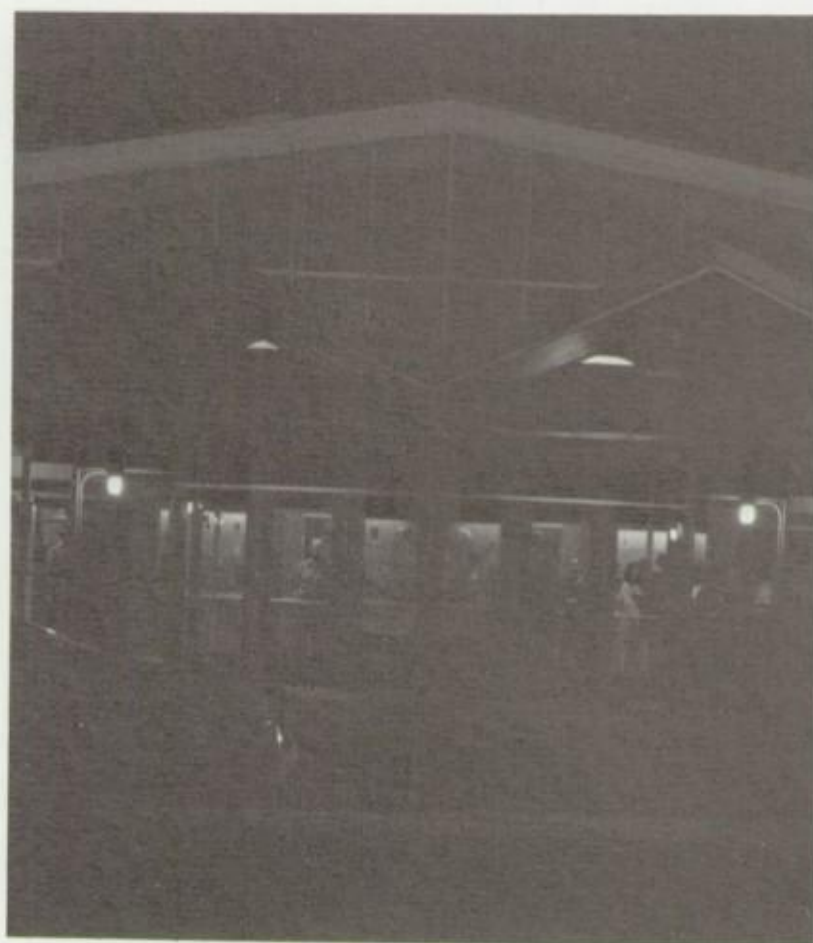

It is to our parents and to these ideals that we dedicate this yearbook. May the future make us ever faithful to both.

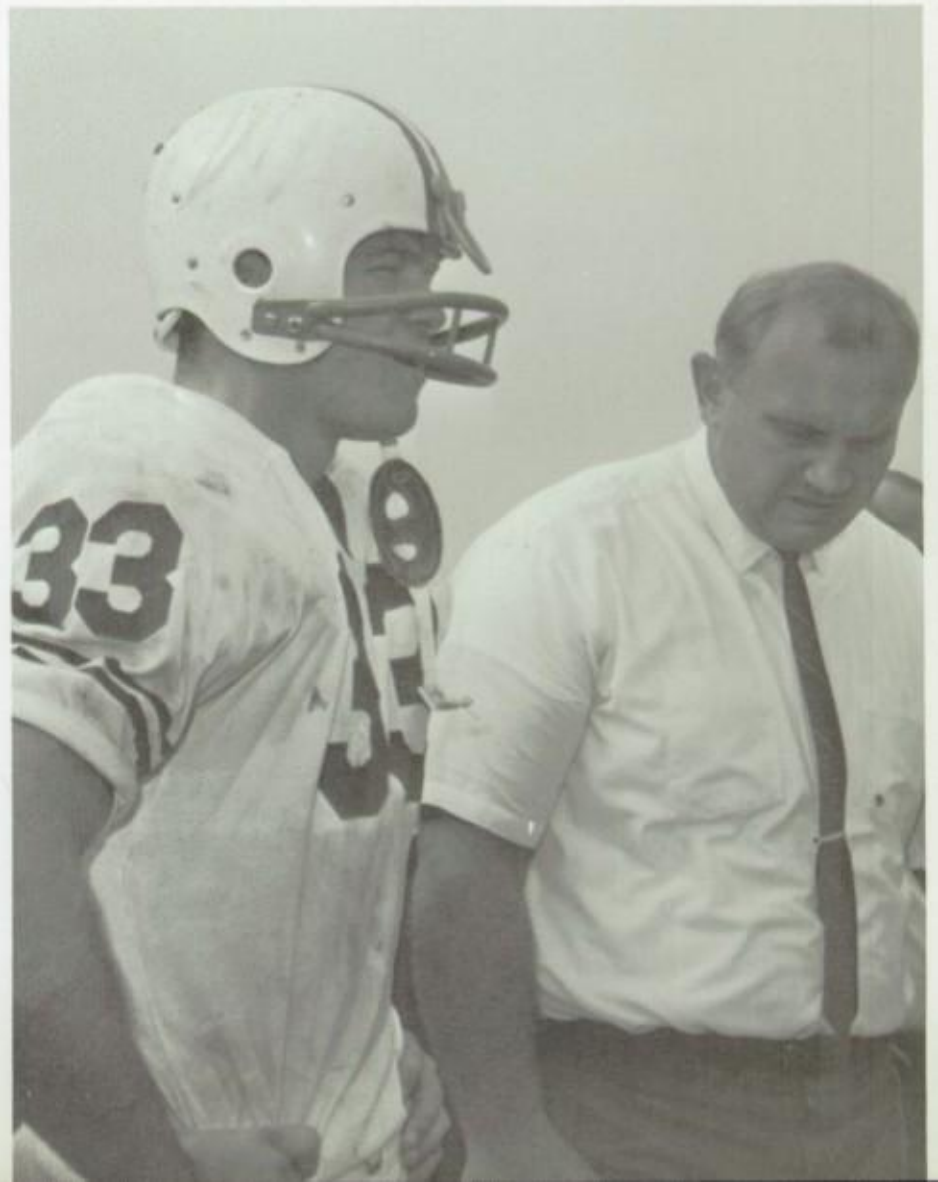

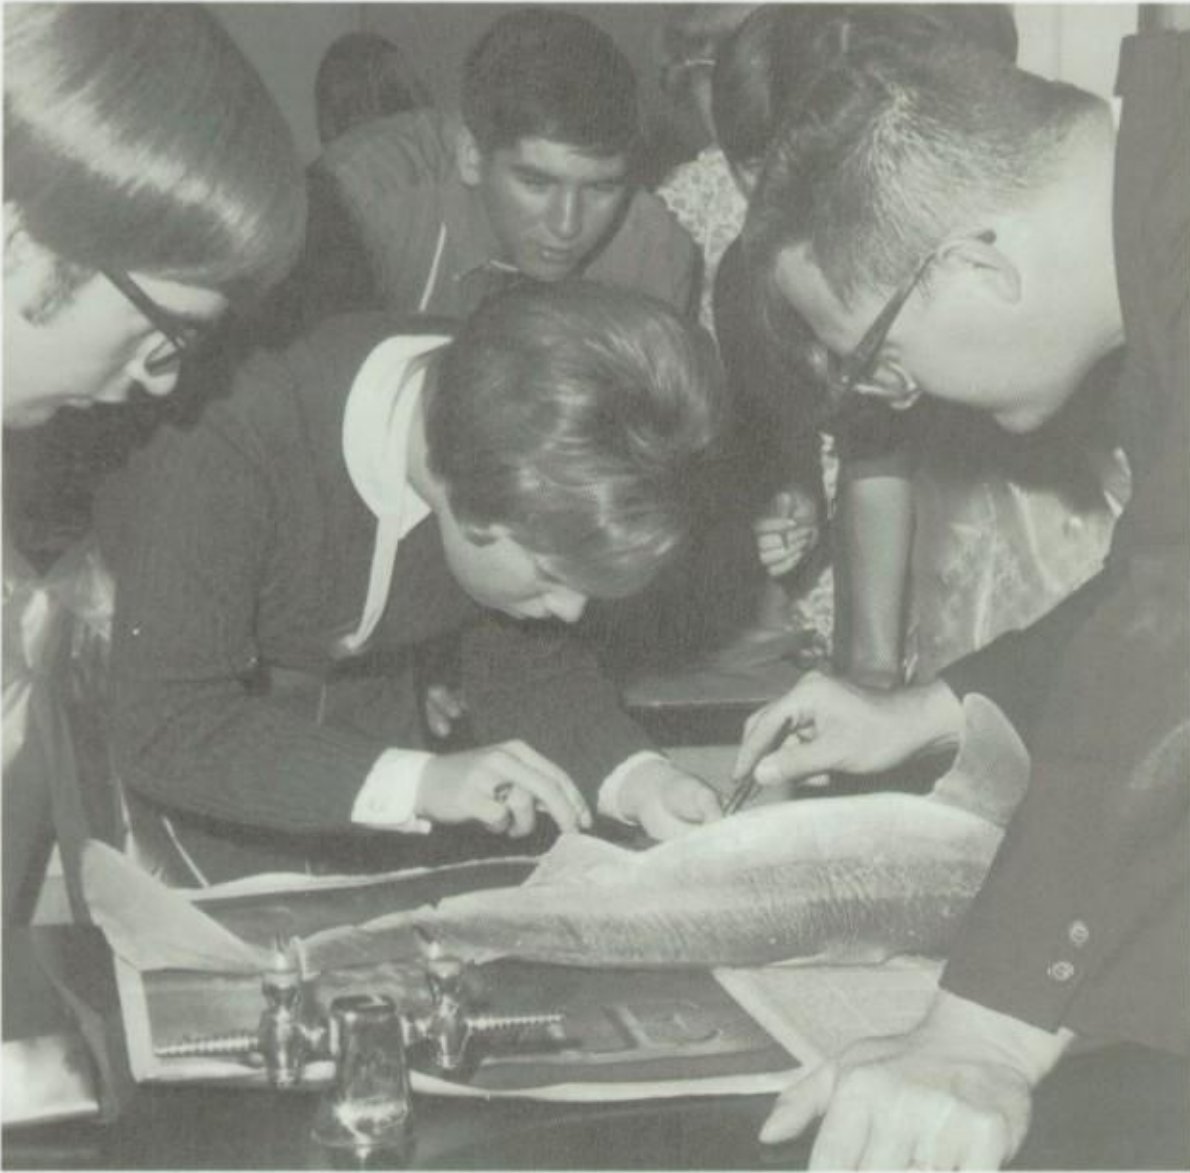

An accredited member of the Middle States Association of Colleges and secondary schools, Wilson is given special recognition by the Department of Public Instruction of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. One of the largest high schools in the area, Wilson's school includes a three-story senior high, a newly-built junior high, and a sports stadium. The stadium has expanded its field, and new bleachers have been erected this year.

Each year the Wilson District grows in population and in land. Wilson stands on the philosophy that the school is the foundation for rich, effective living and world-wide understanding.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION:
GUIDING AND AIDING OUR UPWARD
FLIGHT

TOGETHER WE CAN TOUCH THE SKY— FOR WE CAN FLY UP, UP

The Wilson School Board is comprised of nine elected directors representative of the school district residents. It is the School Board that must turn the ideal of "opportunity" into the substance of teachers, buildings, equipment and books.

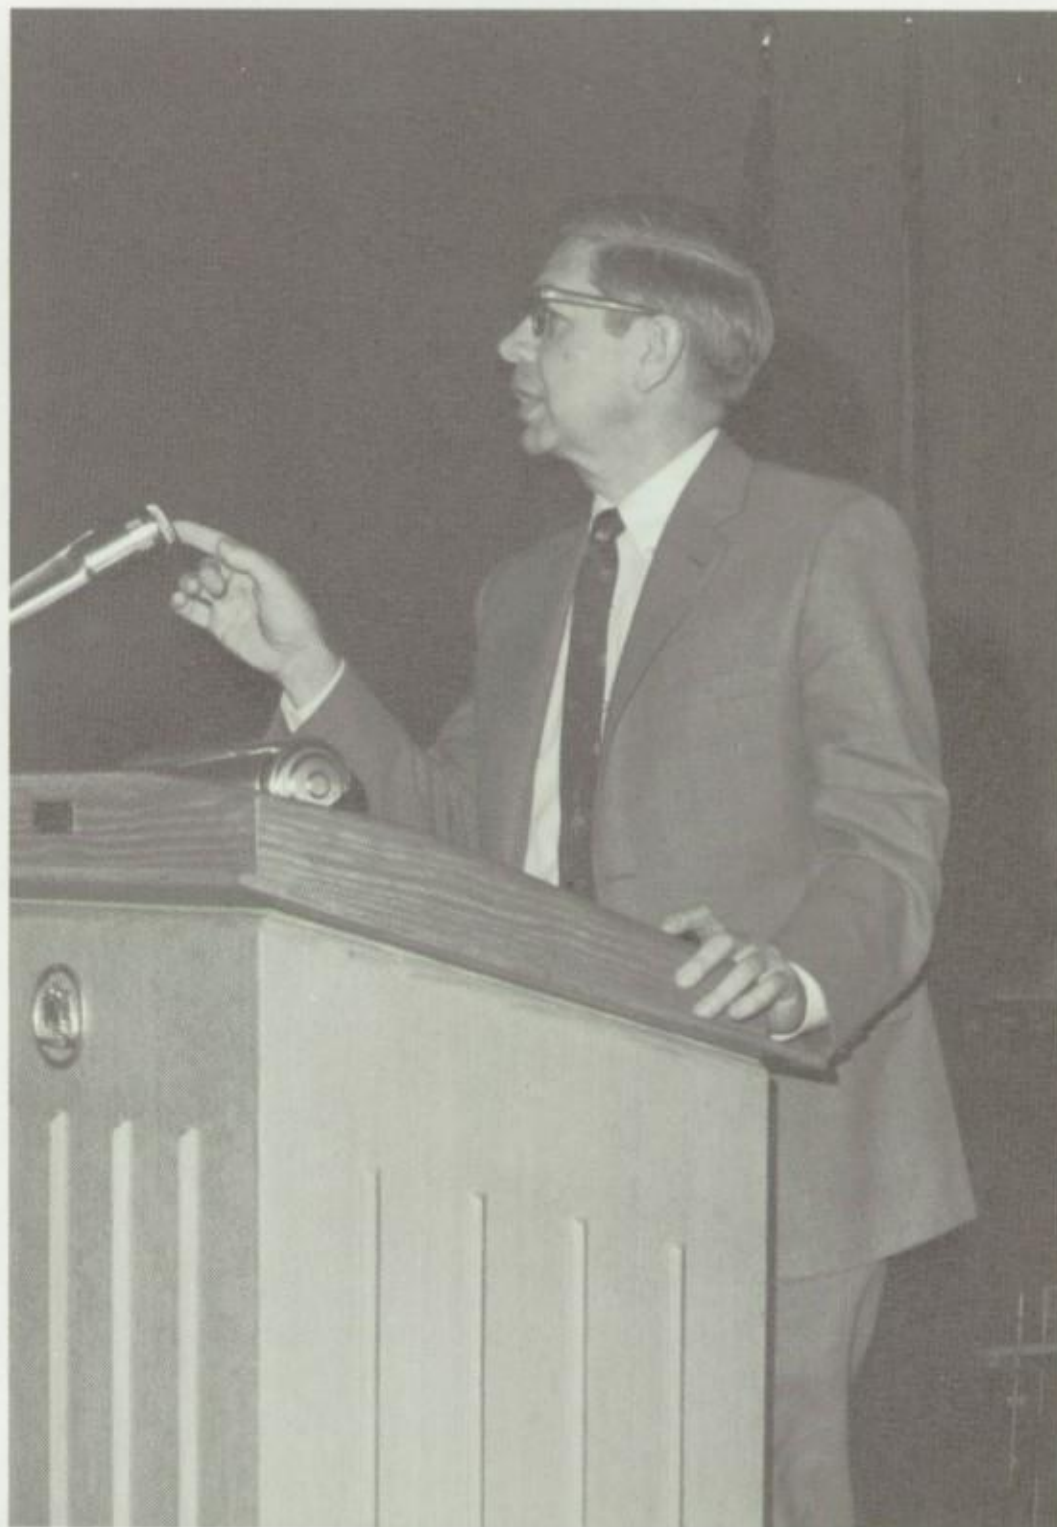

The School Board agrees upon what can be accomplished through public education and studies the financial problems in the light of what the Board desires the schools to do for the community and what the community expects from the school. The School Board seeks the interest and support of the citizens to provide for a more effective operation of the schools.

The Board also appoints members to the Wilson Joint School Authority which assists by providing the means to finance and construct new buildings. These men and women also give unselfishly of their time and talents.

AND AWAY

To be effective in a complex society, the superintendent of schools must possess the strength of character, the clarity of purpose, the breadth of understanding and the education and skill which is characteristic of leaders in all fields. In addition, he must be a master teacher.

Dr. Carl F. Constein is a devoted schoolman who dedicates his talents and energies unselfishly to the fulfillment of these ideals. Wilson looks with pride to this man and accepts his leadership and guidance with confidence.

Dr. Constein considers education more than just a word. To him, it is a way of life, a challenge to explore new ideas and a look into the future to provide stimulus to teachers so that students will be motivated to develop natural talents to the best of their ability.

The role of superintendent is difficult and at times lonely. The superintendent's reward comes with the fulfillment of purpose and the accomplishments of the students of the Wilson School District.

Mr. Clayton Rehner, Director of Finance and Planning

Dr. Aaron R. Miller, Director of Secondary Education

UP, UP TO THE BEST FOR WILSONITES

Responsible for the millions of dollars involved in the planning, financing, and spending associated with a modern school system is the Director of Finance and Planning. Staffing and supervising a large faculty and providing a curriculum that meets the needs of our students in a highly complex society falls heavily on the shoulders of the Supervisor of Secondary Education. Assisting in matters of discipline, teacher supervision, and guidance activities is the Assistant Principal. Together they provide an educational atmosphere that provides for the complex transition of our adolescents into whatever endeavors they may choose.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT—UP AND AWAY TO WISER DECISIONS

Questions about the future, problems with school life? No problem is too big for Wilson's qualified guidance department. Each day they are faced with difficulties and questions of teenagers; each day they solve for students questions concerning scheduling, difficulties with homework, making life easier for them. Counseling provides an opportunity for students to talk over their concerns with the counselor in privacy and confidence. It is a place where they can think through any problems they have, and a place where they can learn to make wise decisions.

UP AND AWAY TO SOCIAL AWARENESS

Man lives in a social world. To get along well, man must know this social world. That's where the Wilson Social Studies department comes in. Teaching all phases of social studies, our teachers prepare students to be aware of things about them.

Beginning on a state level, students learn about the history of Pennsylvania and state government. Then American history, the history of our nation is taught. A wider range of studies extends to other countries, nationalities, cultures, in the World Cultures course. Finally, seniors study the economic system of our nation and the Federal Government.

Also a part of the social studies department is the sociology course, giving students insight into the workings of mankind.

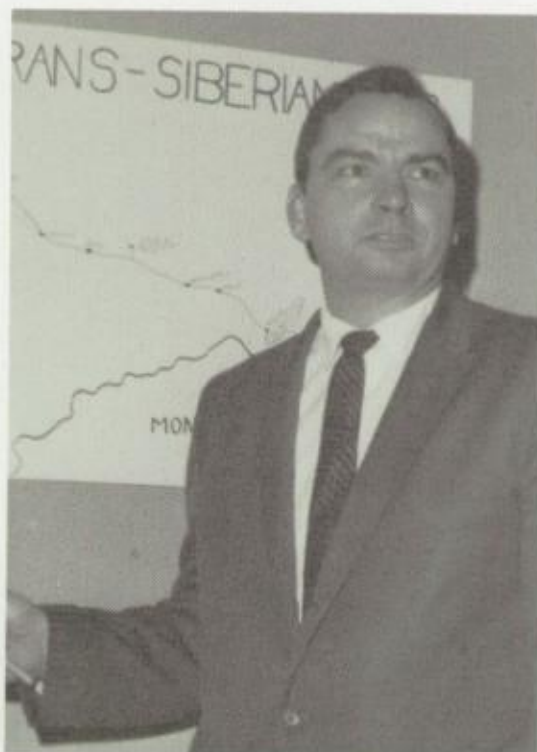

Awareness counts today, and knowledge of government, current news, foreign affairs, makes a person ready to face the world.

ENGLISH—THE KEY TO ALL WORLDS

To understand man, man must first understand himself and his language. The fine points of our language are stressed in Wilson's English program. Through vocabulary, speeches, book reports, and term papers, the students learn to use their language to the best advantage. Included in the English department is a special Honors English class for seniors, with special emphasis placed on extensive reading and writing.

American and English literature as well as grammar are stressed in the senior high courses. English teachers at Wilson try to help students understand themselves through their language.

MATHEMATICS-UP AND AWAY TO INFINITY

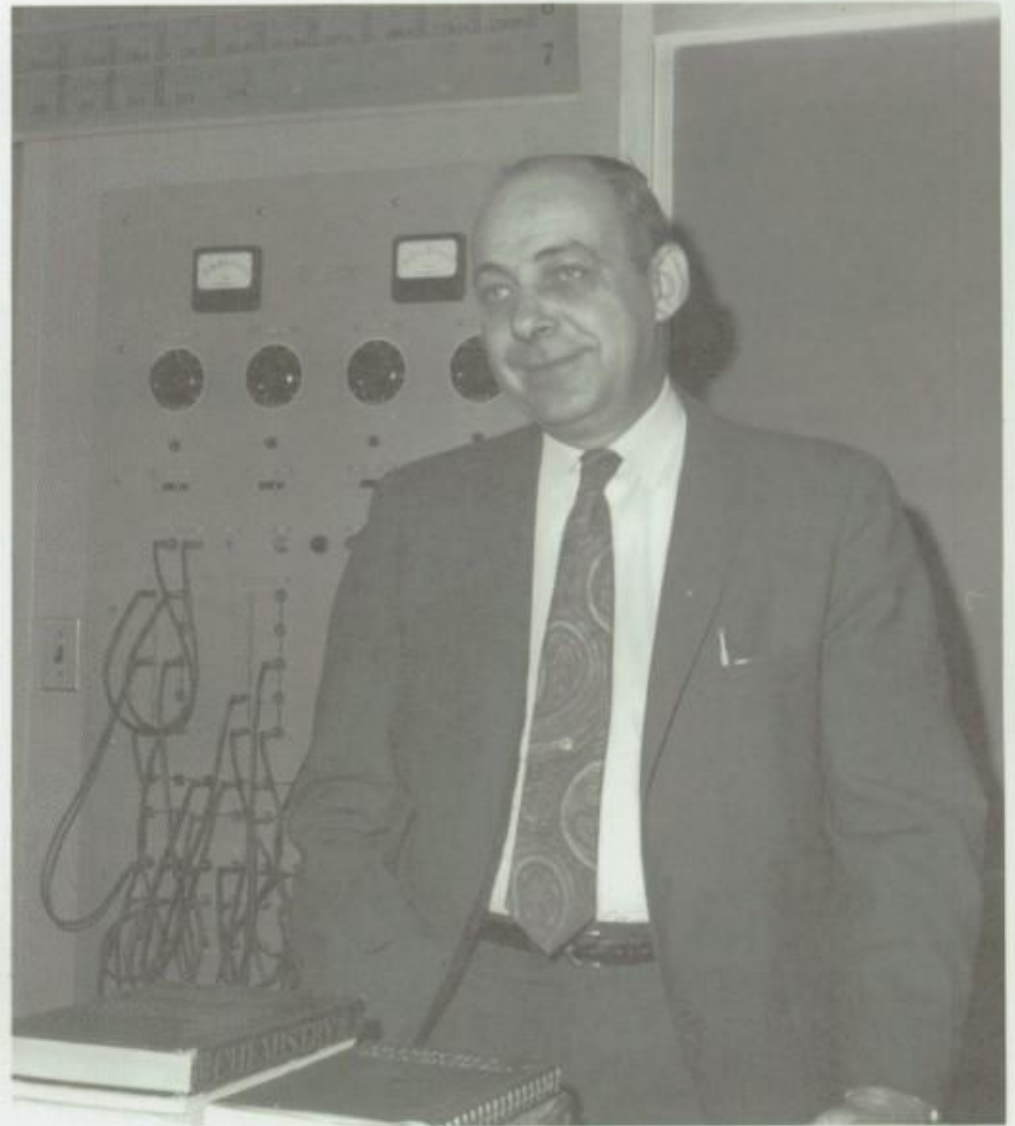

Say it with numbers. As the world advances man moves more toward a computeristic society in which numbers play an increasingly important role. Many professionals rely on numbers and mathematics. Looking at our lives, we find that mathematics are all around us in the form of circles, squares, polygons, and parallelepipeds, as well as numbers. The well-educated citizen must have a knowledge of the mathematics that provide foundations for our progress. At Wilson students train to become our next mathematical giants.

How can math be so funny?

SCIENCE HOLDS THE KEY TO THE UNIVERSE

Molecules, micro-organisms, mercury, muscles make up the world of science. Wilson's World of Sciences consists of general courses in the areas of biology, chemistry, physics, and earth and space science. No matter what direction the student follows upon graduation, his understanding of the make-up of things around him and the "whys and wherefores" of life through science will be of great value to him.

The customs, manner, dress, government, and especially the language of foreign people are all part of the language department's teaching. In learning foreign languages students grow closer to their neighbors from other countries and learn better understanding of other parts of the world. At Wilson, students have their choice of the romantic languages, French, German, and Spanish, as well as slavic Russian. As the world grows smaller, it is increasingly important that we communicate with our foreign neighbors. This requires understanding their culture and their language. Let's face it: ours is a linguistic society.

THE INDISPENSABLE SECRETARIES

Preparing Wilson students for a career in the commercial world is the Wilson High Business Department. Tomorrow's business leaders are instructed in notehand, typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand.

Central Treasury is an important part of the business department. Business students in Central Treasury take care of all the finances of Wilson's clubs and organizations.

Typists from the business classes offer their services to the school by typing for the SPECTATOR, DES PENSÉES, and the WILSONIAN.

Also an important organization of the school is FBLA, consisting of girls who plan to pursue business careers as secretaries and business leaders.

READING—A BASIC SKILL

A thousand adventures lie within the boundaries of a written page. Those who read can experience adventures in a foreign land, the romance of the past, the excitement of the unknown future: all this without leaving their home.

Mrs. Logero helps students develop their reading talents, introduces them to the joys of reading that they may escape reality and enter the world of written adventures.

A silent world of countless adventures, a place where Wilson students can lose themselves in the magic of books--this is our library. Mrs. Lantz and Miss Sheidy help students discover the enrichment of books.

UP, UP TO CREATIVITY

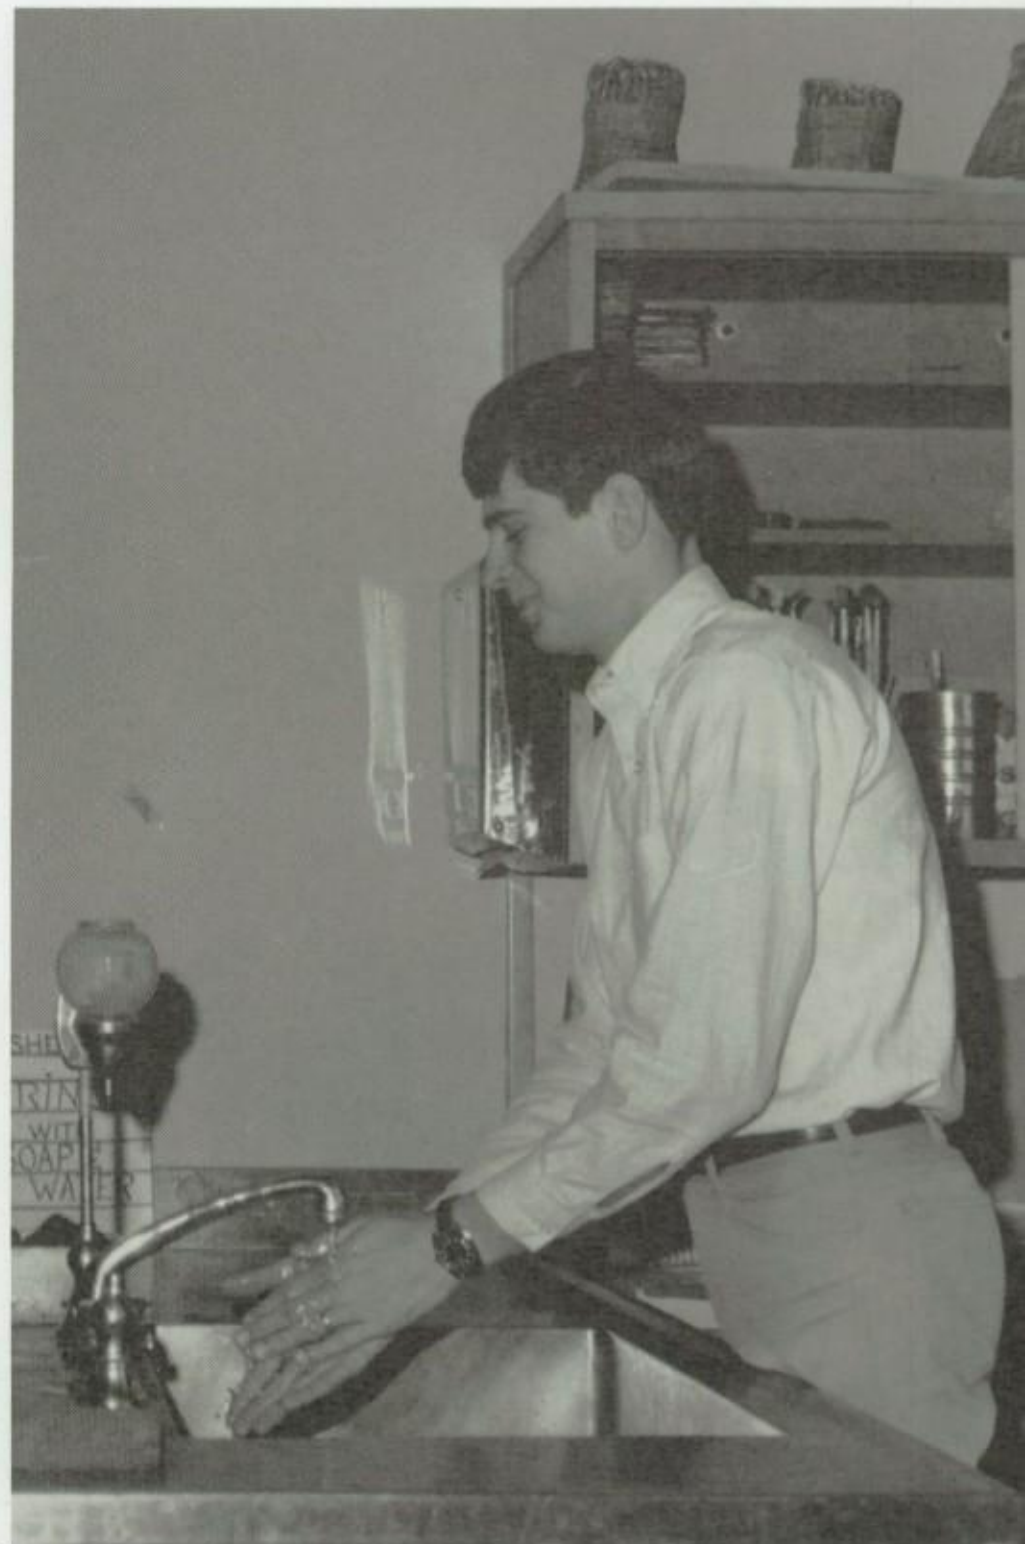

Be creative, be individual, express your innermost feelings--take art. Art offers students a break from regular classroom routines and allows them to be different through their creativity. The art department also contributes to school activities by making posters to announce coming events, and by making scenery and props for plays and concerts.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT—UP AND AWAY TO SOAR AMONG CLOUDS

Mr. Frank J. Ferraro

Our school is alive with the sound of music. Wilson has one of the finest music departments in the county. Mr. Lechner and Mr. Ferraro play important roles in stirring up school spirit at Wilson through the interest in Chorus and Band. This department now includes the marching unit, stage band, concert band, chorus and concert choir. At Christmas the concert band and concert choir "join" forces to present the Christmas concert. No where else can students learn to appreciate the finer things in music than in the music department of the school.

HOMEMAKERS OF TOMORROW

Home is where the homemakers are. Wilson's Home Economics department prepares today's students for the work of keeping tomorrow's homes. All Phases of homemaking are included in the major and elective courses--sewing, cooking, and child care. Also a part of the department is the boys' chef course where boys learn the art of preparing and serving food.

Home economics teaches the practical skills for keeping a happy home.

Keep it clean, Debbie!

Miss Moyer helps her students prepare menus which are appetizing as well as nutritious.

Mr. Herbert Schoenly

Did the print shop do that?

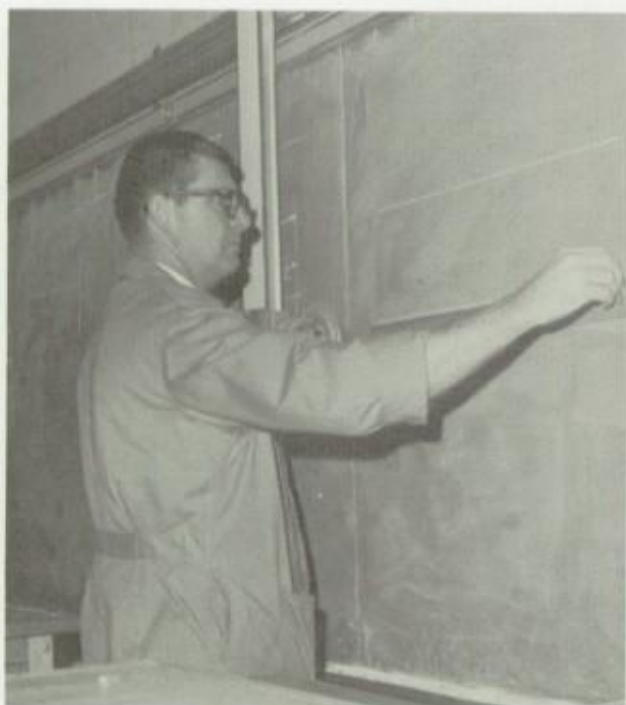

Mr. David Wardrop

The Industrial Arts Department trains students in skills with tools, machinery, and knowledge of industry, preparing them to meet the industrial demands of tomorrow.

Mr. Wardrop shows boys the various phases of printing, photography, silk screening and lithography. The printing department is busy throughout the year preparing most of the printed material of the school.

Mechanical drawing gives students interested in engineering and architecture a chance to express themselves through constructive drawings. Students are creative with materials in wood shop and metal shop.

Industrial arts gives boys a chance for self-expression in constructive means while training them for the industrial world of today.

Mr. Donald Schwenk

UP, UP AND AWAY TO BETTER HEALTH

"A healthy body means a healthy mind" so the saying goes. Wilson offers means for the healthiest bodies around. Physical Education is an important part of a student's learning, encouraging competition, physical fitness and activity. Gym offers a diversion from classroom studies, allowing students to release their energies in a healthy manner. Volleyball, tennis, gymnastics, track, as well as formal exercises, comprise Wilson's gym program.

Sports, intramural and interscholastic, boys' and girls', are a part of the Athletic Program.

A student's reward for making the most of the Driver Education Course will be a lifetime enjoyment of the many benefits afforded by safe and proficient driving.

Vocational Agriculture, for students interested in working with land to produce food to feed the growing population, stresses modern farming techniques. Students study soil, plants, and land in order to learn the latest agricultural processes.

Cosmetology, carpentry, data processing, food management; these are some of the courses offered at the Berks Center West Vocational-Technical School. By attending Vo-Tech half a day students prepare for jobs and vocations other than those requiring a college education. Upon graduation students will be ready to start on special jobs for which they have been trained during their term at the Vo-Tech school.

Taking care of all business concerns of the school, Mr. Houston and the secretaries lend their services for an efficient production of a working school.

AWAY, AWAY TO THE UNSEEN, UNSUNG COMFORTERS

Behind the scenes are men and women who keep this school running like a well-oiled machine. They keep our school clean, make sure all the lights work and that the school has heat so that the students are comfortable. The maintenance staff works when no one else is here, to insure a clean, well-kept school.

Those happy cheerful ghosts who pop in and out around lunchtime, keeping students happy, healthy, alert, and most important well-fed are the cafeteria workers. These master connoisseurs of the culinary art cunningly connive each meal. The meals themselves are usually good, and the salads and desserts are better than those of any other school in the area.

UP AND AWAY TO INVOLVEMENT IN STUDENT AFFAIRS

Junior and senior representatives are deep in thought over the problems of cafeteria music.

Student Council President Donald Hess and faculty advisor, Mr. Kopp, listen to questions from the floor.

The Student Council is the student governing body. Although this year it was not overly active, its main accomplishments were the piping in of music to the cafeteria during lunch periods and the meetings held in the cafeteria before school hours.

The body of the Council was made up of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, with Donald Hess presiding over them. Vice President was John Simboli, and Secretary-Treasurer was Janice Hoyer.

This year the Wilsonian Chapter of the National Honor Society assisted in the "Save the Children" campaign. The district's elementary schools, junior high school, and senior high school served as collection stations for the clothing contributed by students and families of the district.

In the spring the National Honor Society inducted forty-seven new members. Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the qualities that NHS members must possess.

Susan Stevenson spoke on the qualities of scholarship, Jean Boyer talked on the subject of character, Frank Kasproicz stressed the main points on leadership, and Patrick Moran dealt with the qualities of service.

ASSEMBLIES CHANGE PACE AND GIVE THAT UP AND AWAY FEELING

Assemblies took a turn for the better this year. They ranged from educational to fun, from songs and dance to atomic energy. (A favorite of the students was the "ba booooman" man.) The Coatesville and Mifflin Choral exchange assemblies will be remembered as the chief musical events of the year, along with our own choral assemblies. And who could forget the day Barb Dillman's hair stood on end?

The final assembly of the year was the awards assembly (the third for the year). All awards were presented to those students deserving them.

Cherry Krick plays a dramatic role as mother.

The Dramatic Club presented the play "If A Man Answers" on March 1, 1969. The cast consisted of students in ninth through twelfth grades. The story, a comedy, depicted the life of a model, her many friends, and the conflicting ideas of mother versus father versus daughter. Given to a large audience, the play was a big success.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER

Usherettes "do their thing" at the faculty play.

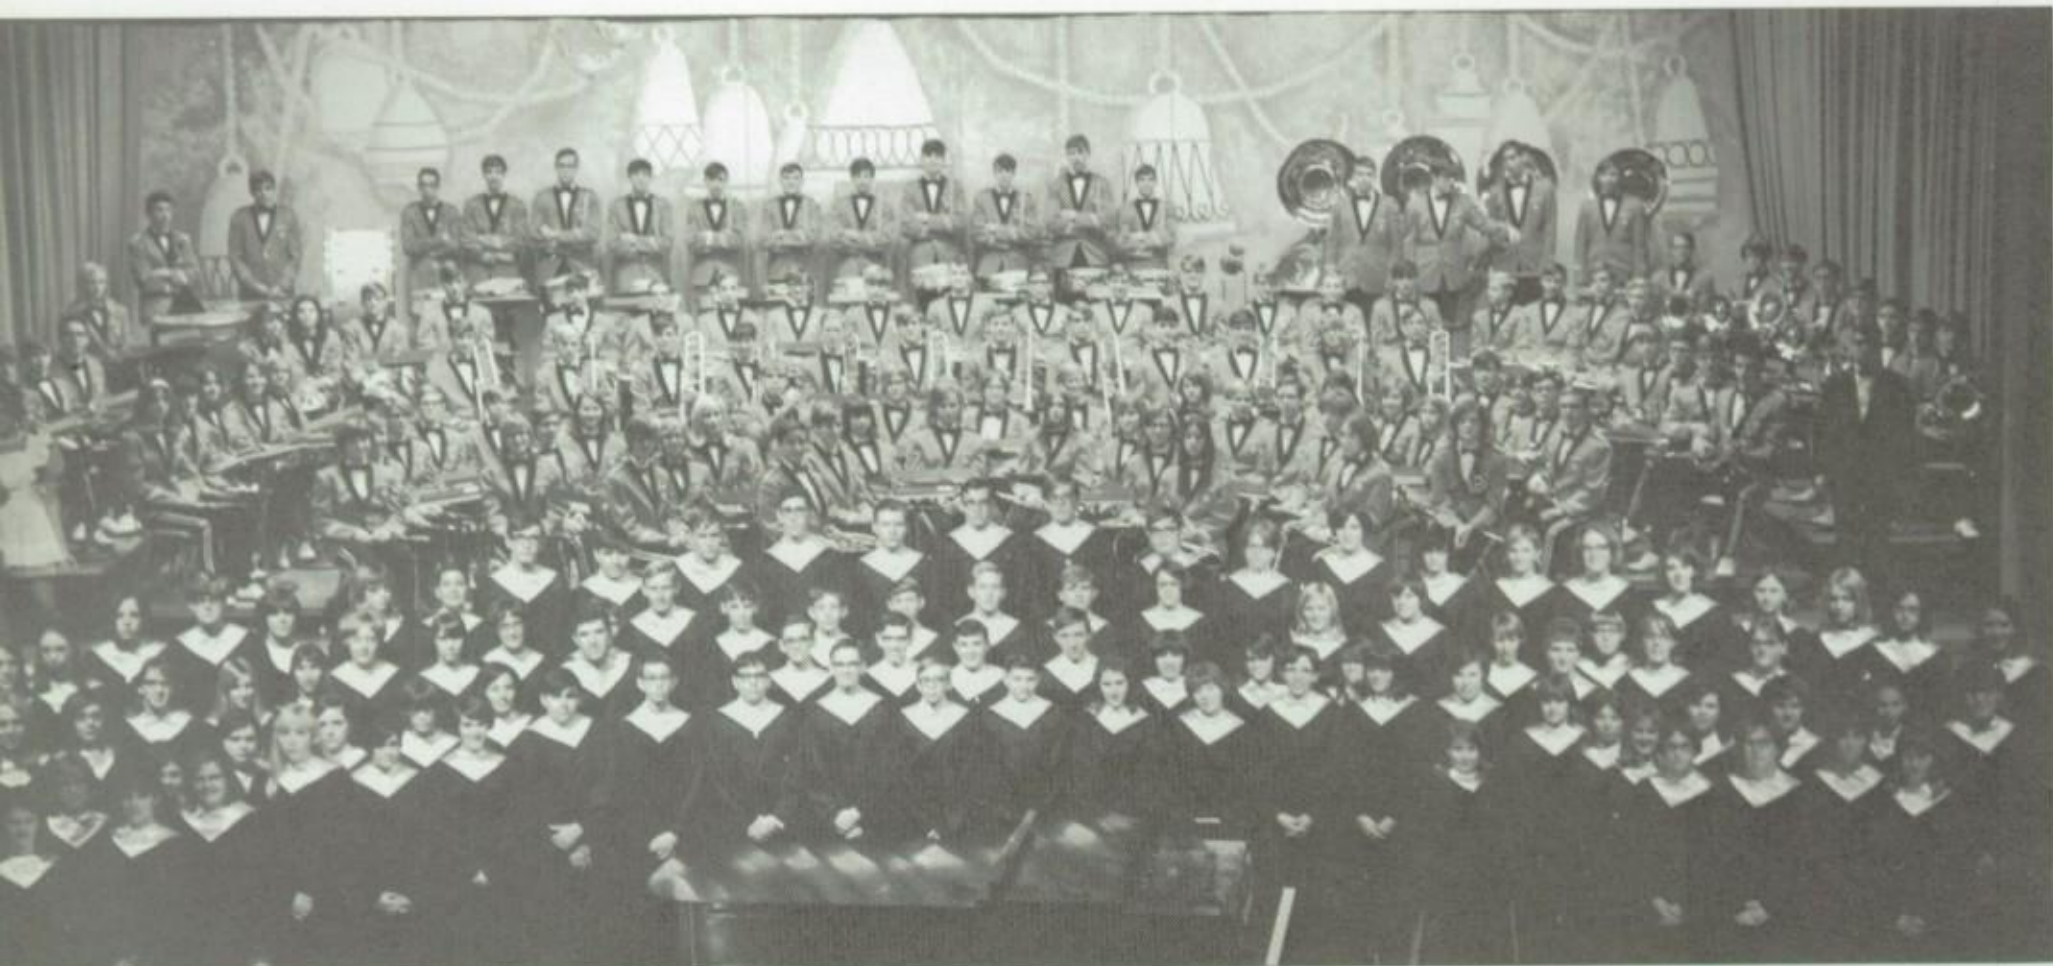

This year's faculty play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner", was aptly chosen. The cast was large enough so that many Wilson teachers could participate, and participate they did. The story opened on a scene just after Sheridan Whiteside (Mr. Clay) injured his hip as a guest in the home of Mr. & Mrs. Ernest Stanley. To his (and their) dismay, "Sherry" was confined to a wheelchair and ordered to continue his affairs as a temporary resident of Mesalia, Ohio. The calm life of the small-town family was set topsy-turvy for a few weeks, but all returned to normal in the end.

CHORUS—THE SOUND SUPREME

This year's chorus supplied the school with musical talent ranging from soprano to bass and musical selections varying from classical to contemporary.

The series of concerts started with an exchange assembly with Mifflin in November. Following concerts were the Christmas Cantata, the Christmas concert, a second exchange assembly which involved Coatesville, and a Spring concert in March.

The band ended another successful year with many new additions to the trophy case. The band and band front received three combined first place trophies, one each at the "Cavalcade of Bands" at Arch Bishop Wood Stadium in Philadelphia, the "Cavalcade of Bands" in Boyertown, and the "Cavalcade of Bands" in Northampton.

The band alone brought in first place trophies from all the contests listed above, and the band front received first place at Arch Bishop Wood Stadium and at Northampton, and second place at Boyertown.

In addition to contest routines, the band performed at half-time at a Philadelphia Eagles game, and played at the "Indianapolis 500" during a four-day visit there.

A Voice of the School - The Spectator - is a vital part of Wilson's activities. Adhering to the purpose of a newspaper - to inform, to entertain, and to keep students abreast of events - the editors and staff strive to make the paper as interesting and informative as possible. This year THE SPECTATOR was awarded one second-place and two first-place ratings.

UP, UP AND AWAY TO THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF A FREE PRESS

One of the highlights of the year was our participation in March at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York.

Work on Wilson's literary magazine, Des Pensée, began in February this year. Students in all grades contributed themes, poetry, prose, or short stories. The publication was edited by the senior Honor's-English class, and was distributed in June.

AWAY TO THE KNOWLEDGE OF WORDS AND IDEAS EXPOUNDED

The Des Pensée staff consisted of: Editors: Linda Hendricks and James Harrington; Co-editors: Gerald Noll and Kathleen Brumbach; Art Editors: Deborah Weidner and Robert Stradley; Publicity: Cinda Hamlin; Publication: James Russell. Miss Zug, literary advisor, worked closely with all other members of the class.

The yearbook staff started working the first Monday of the school year, and met every Monday thereafter from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. The Art and Layout Staff members were: Joanne Harman, Susan Rohrbaugh, Robert Stradley, Karla Weikel, Sandi Strunk, Arthur Folk, Sharon Wojtowicz, Bonnie Hood, Kathy Texter, Kathleen Brumbach, Cynthia Thomas, Deborah Weidner, and Helen Raffauf. Their job was to decide the placement and size of pictures, headlines, and captions, and to design all artwork.

The Editorial Staff had to compose all captions, headlines, and paragraphs of copy. The members included: Laurel Milkins, Stephanie Reiner, Cinda Hamlin, Barbara Helder, Nancy Carroccio, Cindy Gromis. Co-editors were Jean Boyer and Vicki Super.

The advisors of the staff were Miss Berger and Mr. Fleishood.

PIGSKIN PRACTICE '69

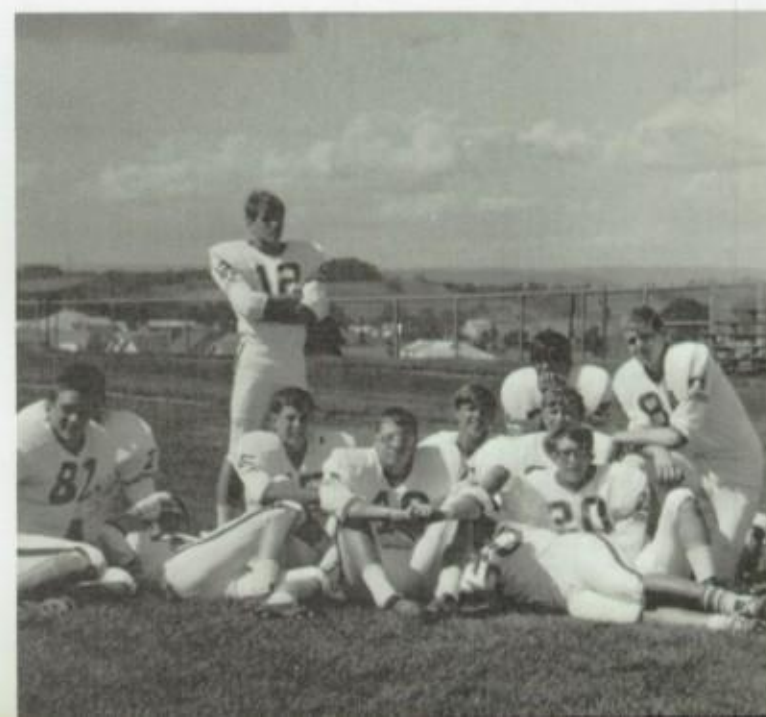

On Saturday, September 7, the Bulldogs traveled to Whitehall to open their 1968 season. The team, displaying championship form, beat the Zepher's and chalked up their eleventh straight win. The Bulldogs were then ready to meet their next opponents, and because of the numerous skills showed by the team, they were able to defeat Boyertown. However, number thirteen seemed to hold true to its name and Owen J. Roberts beat our fighting Bulldogs. Next the team faced Schuylkill Haven, and the Bulldogs got back into the winner's circle. As fate would have it, the team lost the next game to Lancaster Catholic. And so it was to be for the remainder of the football season that the Bulldogs would alternately win and lose a game. The highlight of the year was the last game of the season when Wilson met Mifflin. The sheer drive and determination of the boys brought them back to win everything but the score. All in all this season held the thrills and spills, the tackles and interceptions, completions and incompletions, fumbles and frustrations, that made it another exciting football season.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING

The girls' intramural bowling teams met every Wednesday after school at Berks Lanes for a series of ten weeks. Tension and excitement marked those sessions. In between strikes the girls managed to find time to gorge themselves with anything edible. While participating in intramural bowling, the girls learned the meaning of sportsmanship and teamwork.

FUTURE HOOP CHAMPIONS

Dennis Mays encounters difficulty when making his lay-up shot.

The junior varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Leon Rothermel, thrilled spectators by executing sharp shooting, keen guarding, and great teamwork. Their season record showed only four wins to their eight losses, but the experience the boys gained and the skills they learned to master compensated for any deficiency in the number of wins for the season.

GRAPPLERS WRESTLE THEIR WAY TO SECTIONALS

This year proved to be another excellent season for Wilson's wrestling team. Under the guidance of Coaches Anthony DaDamio and William Moyer our team sent two wrestlers to the district matches and one to the regionals. The biggest surprise of the season, however, was the tremendous amount of support the wrestling fans of the Wilson District gave the team. Unlike other years, the spectators came out faithfully and cheered their heroes on to victory. Wrestling has become a popular sport for both the spectator and the wrestler here at Wilson. We hope to see the spaces made by graduating seniors filled by capable underclassmen in order to maintain the newly established tradition of fine wrestling at Wilson.

SWIMMING TEAM MAKES BIG SPLASH THIS SEASON

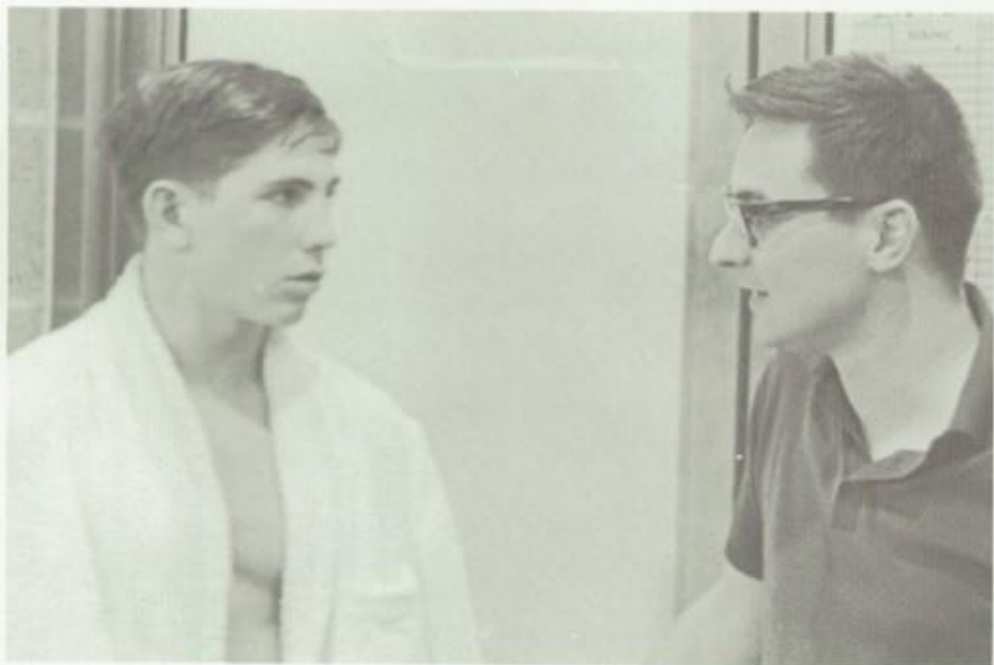

The start of a race---a tense moment.

This year the swim team ended its season with an 8-2 record. It was one of the best seasons for the team in the history of our school. Records were broken in ten out of eleven events. The only record not broken was the 100-yard breaststroke; still held by Roger Fitterling. Fourteen boys were selected to go on to the district meets. Of those fourteen, eight qualified for the state meet. The 400-yard freestyle relay team did a spectacular job in the state meet, capturing third place. This was the first time Wilson High swimmers accomplished such a feat in the state meet.

Wendy Long demonstrates her freestyle stroke.

Even though this year was the first for girls' swimming to be a varsity sport, the girls made a fine showing. The team, although not participating in league competition, had a fine turnout of twenty girls at the first practice. Coach Updegrave was pleased with this number and also with the number of underclassmen who attended. The girls lost their first two meets against the strong team of Camp Hill. However, the swimmers did not let these defeats disturb them, and proceeded to win the next three meets against Kutztown, Upper Perkiomen, and York. The victory over York was perhaps the most surprising, yet the most delightful feat the girls accomplished, since York was probably the stiffest competition they had to face.

Judy Ritter, the only senior member on the team, scored the most points for the mermaids. In all but one of the meets in which she participated, Judy was undefeated in the events of the 50-yard freestyle and backstroke. Next in line in scoring points was Cindy Burkot, a sophomore, who was the star in the butterfly event. The team produced great swimmers and excellent divers. Bonnie Collier and Sue Moyer, both underclassmen, took first and second places respectfully in all but one meet.

GIRLS' TRACK TEAM COMING UP, UP TO CHAMPIONSHIP FORM

Jan paces her way towards her varsity letter.

March 17 marked the opening of another girls' track season coached by Mrs. Chase. About 50 reported for practice, but by the end of the season the team dwindled to about 25. Luck was not with the girls in the first two meets against Twin Valley and Owen J. Roberts; however, their luck changed toward the end of the season. The squad sped to a victory over Conrad Weiser. When the determined Bulldogs faced Twin Valley again, Wilson was victorious. After these wins, the Wilson team was now prepared for the county meet. With the aid of Susie Dry, who set a county record in the discus, and LuAnn Smith, who won the shotput, the team placed fourth in overall team points. With only three seniors on the squad this year, the future looks bright for the up and coming track season.

FRESHMEN BEGIN HIGH SCHOOL CAREER

The ninth graders begin their high school career in the east wing of the senior high. Their first fears turn to excitement as they trample the same halls as did their predecessors. Their enthusiasm is the spark which keeps the whole student body awake.

A freshman ponders on his math.

The ninth grade homeroom presidents were: D. Auge, B. Deininger, S. Fisher, P. Hain, M. Hoffman, E. Langdon, M. Martin, T. Palka, R. Shartle, G. Stoudt, B. Wentzel.

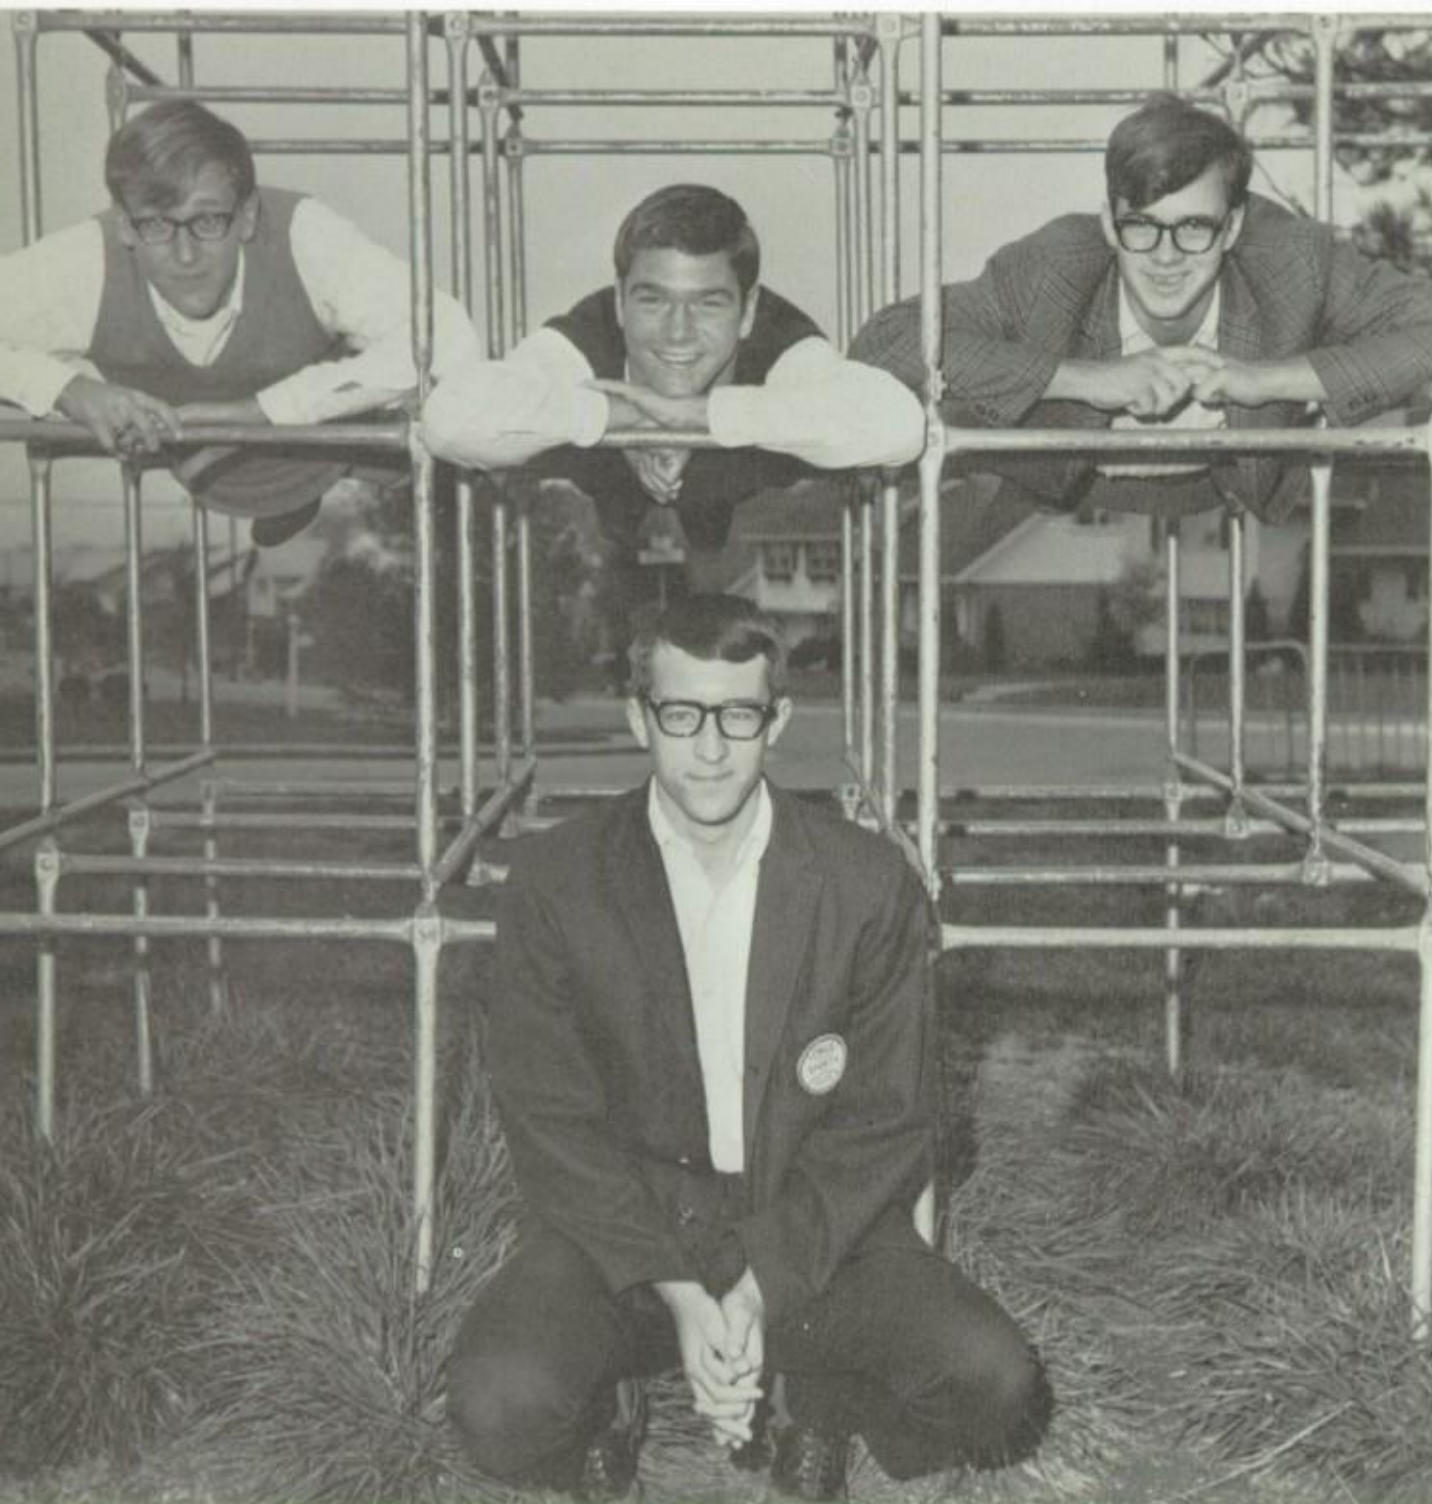

Sophomores enthusiastically get into the swing of things. They dance, go on field trips, bowl, and have fun.

SPIRITED SOPHOMORES "SOCK IT TO 'EM!"

Sophomore class officers were: T. Blankenbiller, president; K. Bragg, secretary; T. Wagner, treasurer; B. Hess, vice president.

JUNIORS PSYCHED FOR NEW LEADING ROLES

Officers of the junior class were: M. Troutman, vice president; R. Fehling, president; J. Federowicz, treasurer; and T. Diller, secretary.

Juniors, juniors, everywhere have lots to do and lots to say. Yes, the juniors of 1969 were involved in anything and everything from love to homework. They flocked to the various athletic activities to exhibit their talents in sports and, similarly, they filled the classroom seats to pick up what knowledge they might. They also actively participated in other extracurricular activities such as chorus and band.

As juniors, they were completely in charge of the famous junior-senior prom. Anxious as they were to get started on the big project, the theme was chosen, committees were assigned, and the frequent meetings began. By the time mid-May had arrived, the juniors were working on the final preparations and anticipating the gala affair.

The junior class of 1969 was an active body, working to better our school.

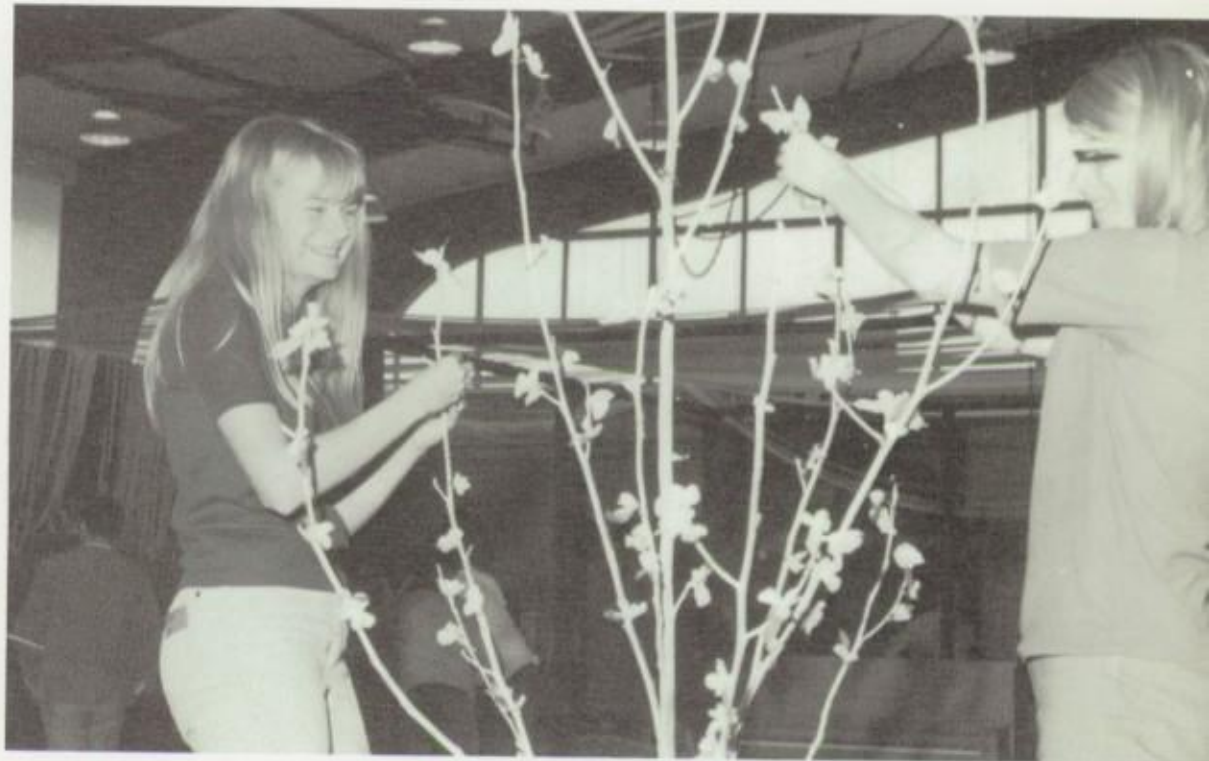

Terrie and Jane add finishing touches to background scenery for the choral concert.

In conjunction with World Cultures classes, the "world beyond the classroom" concept took the junior class to New York City for a first-hand look at the United Nations organization after they had studied its role in today's affairs among many nations of the world. Other highlights of the trip were the famous Statue of Liberty and the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and a myriad of sights and sounds from this bristling metropolis.

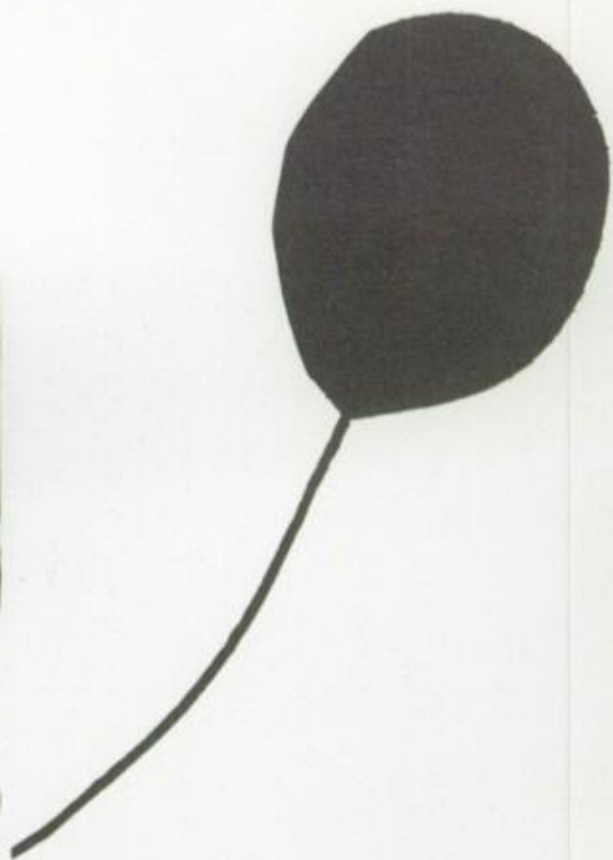

"How in the world are we going to be able to make this tree bloom by prom time tonight?"

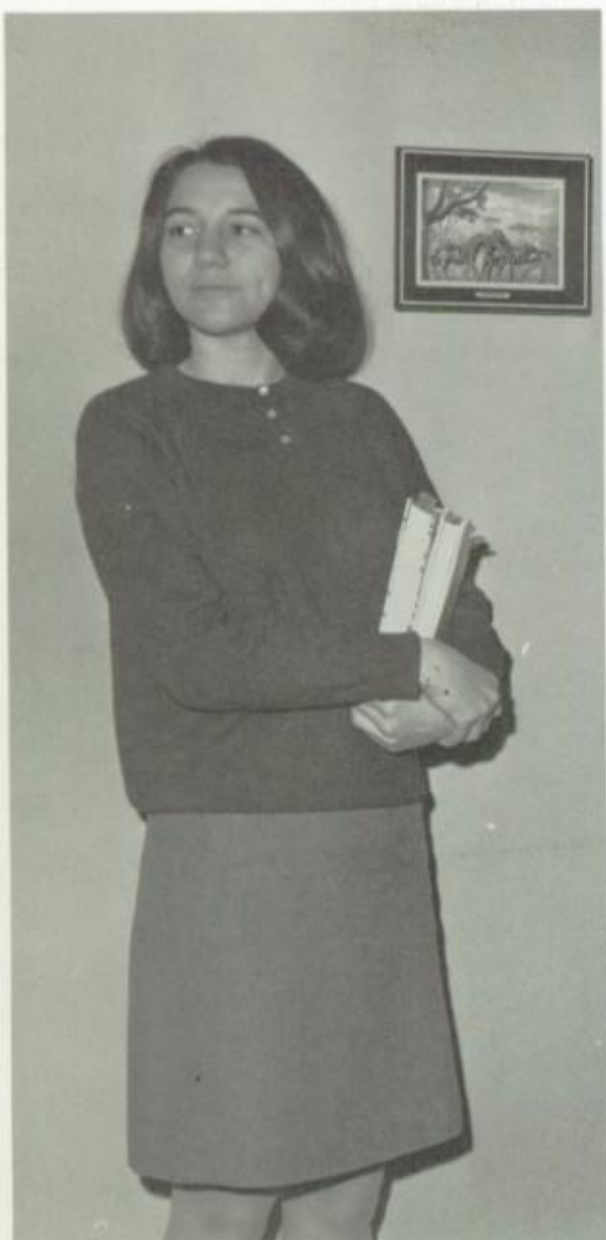

The "flowering youth" of the decorating committee was evident throughout the beautiful scenery created.

SENIOR STATUS AND THE EXCITING THINGS BEYOND

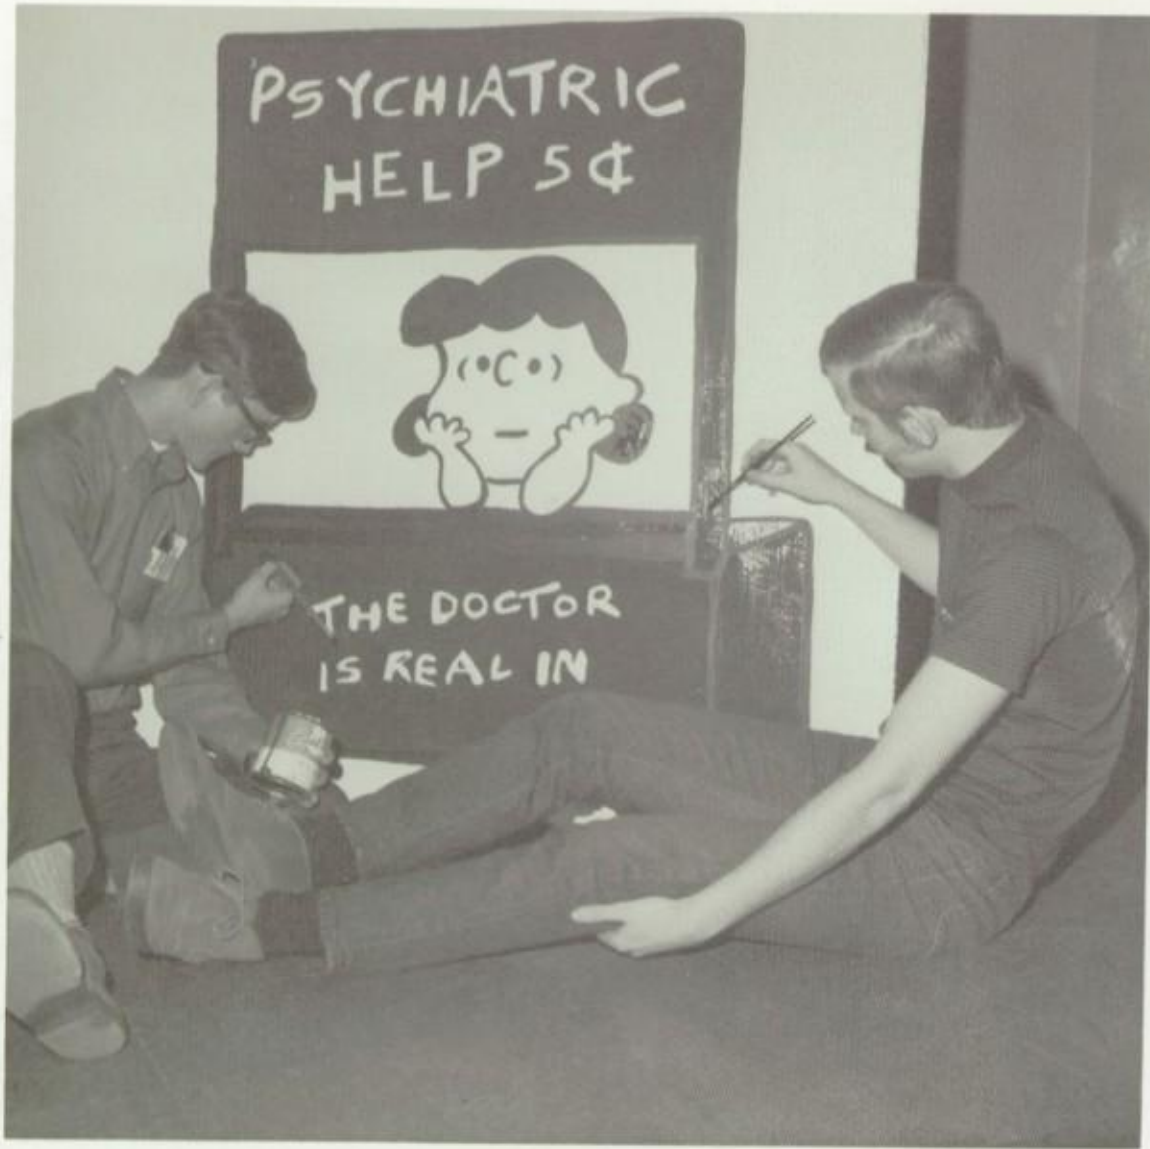

Wilson's log was broken when Jean Boyer was elected president of the senior class. Jean was the first female senior class president at Wilson. WASHINGTON: UP AND AWAY TO

THE HEIGHT OF GOVERNMENT

This year's Senior Class presented the play, "The Mousetrap." The play concerns a group of strangers stranded in a boarding house during a snow storm. One of the guests is a murderer. The suspects include a newly married couple who run the boarding house, a spinster with a curious background, an architect, a retired army major, a strange little man who claims that his car has overturned in a drift, and an obstinate female jurist.

Into their midst comes a policeman traveling on skis. He no sooner arrives than the jurist is killed. To get the rationale of the murderer's pattern, the policeman probes the background of everyone present in the boarding house and rattles a lot of skeletons.

The play was directed by Mr. Allen R. Clay and Mrs. Helen Starke.

Friday night's cast: Beverly Swalm, Mollie Ralston, young bride; Warren Hickernell, Giles Ralston, young husband; Robert Stradley, Christopher Wren, architect; Lorraine Lehner, Mrs. Boyle, jurist; David Stott, Major Metcalf; Barbara Tunnhoff, Miss Casewell; Edmund Aungst, Mr. Paravicini, Strange little man; Scott Burkey, Detective Sgt. Trotter.

Saturday night's cast: Marjorie Shearer, Mollie Ralston; Claire Burns, Mrs. Boyle; Karen Lamm, Miss Casewell; Male cast remained the same. Prompters: Kathleen Brumbach, Barbara Helder, Steven Herbein, Karla Weikel.

HIGHLIGHT OF HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES . . .

"MISTLETOE MAGIC"

"Mistletoe Magic," the semi-formal Christmas dance sponsored by the senior class, awoke the holiday spirit in all who attended. Whether the music rocked with enthusiasm or swayed with romance, the couples danced on and on. Mistletoe and garlands of greens festooned the ballroom, creating a truly enchanting scene. BEAUTIFUL BALLOON TO TOUCH THE SKY

Baccalaureate and Commencement signify a particular period of introspection in students' lives. The first, a farewell sermon, gives them the blessings of their home, their school, and their community. The second, a beginning, will take them to many endeavors in all parts of the world. Most leave with a keen sense of satisfaction and accomplishment; others with dreams unfulfilled over the past twelve years, but for all it is the beginning, and they realize that they must be "up, up and away" to other things in different places, but not without a deep sense of nostalgia for things as they were or how they might have been.

BACCALAUREATE-
COMMENCEMENT
UP AND AWAY-FOREVER
AWAY

The culmination of years of mutual effort, concern, love and understanding on the part of students, teachers, and parents leads to the ultimate test facing the seniors:

MEETING THE CHALLENGE OF A FREE SOCIETY

Being a Responsible Individual Donald Hess
 Shaping Political Policies Nancy Mosser
 Promoting Social Justice Kathleen Ernst
 Choosing Standards in the Arts Bonnie Hood
 Facing Moral Issues Susan Stevenson

PARENTS' ADD FINAL TOUCH FOR "PRIDE AND JOYS"

"Pride and Joys" served as the theme for the Cap and Gown Party sponsored each year by the parents of the graduating class. Meeting, planning and working long hours, the parents gave freely of their time and efforts to provide an evening that will be among the most cherished by the seniors. Dining, dancing, listening, and just having fun completely enhanced the evening, along with "horror" and amusement at the display of classmates' baby pictures!

Would you like to ride in my beautiful
balloon?
Would you like to fly in my beautiful
balloon?
We can soar among the clouds together,
You and I.
For we can fly,
We can fly.
Up, up, and away in my beautiful,
My beautiful balloon.
The world's a nicer place in my beautiful
balloon;
Filled with nicer things in my beautiful
balloon.
If you take my hand,
Together we can touch the sky;
For we can fly,
We can fly,
Up, up, and away in my beautiful,
My beautiful balloon.
